

CHILD CARE CHECKLIST

Choosing a child care program is an important decision and can set the stage for the first five years of development. Things to consider include level of quality, location, cost, and the different types of care environments such as child care centers or programs operated from providers' homes known as family child care.

4C for Children can make your search easier. The following checklist is a tool we offer to help you choose a quality learning environment for your child. If possible visit several programs and use the checklist questions as an interview resource. The boxes following each question provide space for you to record if programs meet the listed criteria and then compare programs.
