

Learn Through Play 2025

April—infant

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	 Activity
		1 Give your baby a massage. Use lotion and rub his arms, legs and back. Name the body parts as you rub them. Make up a little song.	2 Set up a mirror for your baby to see herself while she plays on the floor. Watch her responses.	3 Spin a top or wind a wind-up toy. When it stops, wait for your baby to gesture or indicate for more. Say, "go?" and then repeat.	4 Count your child's fingers and then toes. At the end, tickle or blow raspberries on their palms or bottoms of feet.	5 Play a clapping game with your baby. Sing or just say "clap, clap, clap!" with two blocks. See if he will hit them together.
6 Make a puppet, stuffed animal or even a sock talk or sing to your baby. This is especially handy if you are waiting somewhere.	7 Time to get the stroller out and go for a walk! Talk about the weather, what you see, what you hear and what you smell.	8 Give your baby a massage. Use lotion and rub his arms, legs and back. Name the body parts as you rub them. Make up a little song.	9 Help your baby to squeeze their hands when holding squeeze toys, like sponges, squeak toys, foam balls, etc.	10 Mix water and soap in the sink with a whisk. Make lots of suds and have your baby explore, grabbing and popping.	11 Play on a blanket in the grass. Explore things with different textures and describe how they feel. (rock, twig, branch, leaf, etc.)	12 Stack objects for your baby and encourage her to knock them down.
13 Take a walk outside and point out all the things that you see. Explore your neighborhood or yard.	14 Blow bubbles and encourage your baby to reach for them.	15 Attend a story time at your local library.	16 Sing a nursery rhyme to your child, like "Old McDonald Had a Farm."	17 Give your baby wooden spoons and plastic containers. Show him how to bang objects together to make noise.	18 Put a sock on one of your baby's hands and encourage her to remove it. Try the other side too!	19 Stack some blocks or small boxes, then roll a ball and knock them over. Then let your baby try!
20 Read! Read! Read with your baby!	21 Sing to your child when washing them.	22 Go to a park and slide down a slide together.	23 When your baby makes sounds, try to repeat them back. This builds the foundation of communication.	24 Call grandma, grandpa or another family member. Let your baby listen and "talk" on the phone with them.	25 Encourage your baby (6 months+) to try drinking from a regular cup. The earlier the better.	26 Play some music and sing along. Clap or click your tongue to the beat. See if your baby will copy
27 Take a walk outside and point out all the things that you see. Explore your neighborhood or yard.	28 Talk! Talk! Talk with your baby!	29 Put a toy in a container. Show your baby the item and then dump it out. Repeat. Say "in" and "out."	30 Stack some blocks or small boxes. Then roll a ball and knock them over. Let your baby try!	Connect With 4C Resources Online Parenting E-newsletter: Sign up for our monthly e-news full of parenting tips! Visit www.4cforchildren.org/parentsources .
